

Anchorage Coalition to End Homelessness

Governor Dunleavy's Vetoes to Homeless Support Services represents:

At least 790

more individuals in Anchorage will experience unsheltered homelessness

229

Nightly Shelter Beds

561

Year Round Housing Beds

Based on Governor Dunleavy's Vetoes to the Homeless Assistance Program, Special Needs Housing Grant, Human Services Community Matching Grant & Community Initiative Matching Grants

Anchorage Coalition to End Homelessness

Governor Dunleavy's Vetoes to Homeless Support Services represents:

At least 790

more individuals in Anchorage will experience unsheltered homelessness

229

Nightly Shelter Beds

561

Year Round Housing Beds

Based on Governor Dunleavy's Vetoes to the Homeless Assistance Program, Special Needs Housing Grant, Human Services Community Matching Grant & Community Initiative Matching Grants

Governor Dunleavy's Vetoes will increase homelessness statewide and have the following impacts throughout the community:

With cuts to early childhood education, food pantries and Medicaid funding, more than 17,400 low-income families in Alaska will have to decide between paying for rent or food. These at-risk families may be pushed into homelessness.

• Source: <https://static1.squarespace.com/static/58d2e051725e25221a22bfe7/t/5c8bf886f9619a2c47642222/1552676999735/Alaska+Gap+Report+--+NLIHC.pdf>

Fewer emergency shelter, medical respite and rapid rehousing programs means more hospital emergency room visits, police and fire calls.

- Supportive housing costs $51 per day, Prison stays cost $142 per day, Alaska Psychiatric Institute (API) stays cost $1,100 per day.
- Source: https://www.omb.alaska.gov/ombfiles/20_budget/Rev/Amend/2020proj6360.pdf

Women and Children shelters may reduce operations from 24 hours to overnight only or scale back services offered.

- These shelters offer child support and resources so women can re-enter the workforce without worrying about their children's safety. Now women, children and babies will have nowhere to go in the daytime.

Five of the seven shelters in Anchorage will significantly reduce services, which means the most vulnerable will be forced onto the streets to camp or seek unsafe shelter options.

- AWAIC, Brother Francis Shelter, Clare House, Covenant House & McKinnell House.

RurAL CAP funding will be reduced by up to $1,321,801.00. This means that entire housing programs could be shut down resulting in displacement.

Anchorage day services were slashed, removing necessary supports to rapidly exit or prevent homelessness. This means fewer safe day spaces for vulnerable people, exposure to the elements and increased visible homelessness.

For more information on how to get involved, visit anchoragehomeless.org or find us on Facebook!

Governor Dunleavy's Vetoes will increase homelessness statewide and have the following impacts throughout the community:

With cuts to early childhood education, food pantries and Medicaid funding, more than 17,400 low-income families in Alaska will have to decide between paying for rent or food. These at-risk families may be pushed into homelessness.

• Source: <https://static1.squarespace.com/static/58d2e051725e25221a22bfe7/t/5c8bf886f9619a2c47642222/1552676999735/Alaska+Gap+Report+--+NLIHC.pdf>

Fewer emergency shelter, medical respite and rapid rehousing programs means more hospital emergency room visits, police and fire calls.

- Supportive housing costs $51 per day, Prison stays cost $142 per day, Alaska Psychiatric Institute (API) stays cost $1,100 per day.
- Source: https://www.omb.alaska.gov/ombfiles/20_budget/Rev/Amend/2020proj6360.pdf

Women and Children shelters may reduce operations from 24 hours to overnight only or scale back services offered.

- These shelters offer child support and resources so women can re-enter the workforce without worrying about their children's safety. Now women, children and babies will have nowhere to go in the daytime.

Five of the seven shelters in Anchorage will significantly reduce services, which means the most vulnerable will be forced onto the streets to camp or seek unsafe shelter options.

- AWAIC, Brother Francis Shelter, Clare House, Covenant House & McKinnell House.

RurAL CAP funding will be reduced by up to $1,321,801.00. This means that entire housing programs could be shut down resulting in displacement.

Anchorage day services were slashed, removing necessary supports to rapidly exit or prevent homelessness. This means fewer safe day spaces for vulnerable people, exposure to the elements and increased visible homelessness.

For more information on how to get involved, visit anchoragehomeless.org or find us on Facebook!